Please note the following disclaimers:

The data in this report reflects student enrollment from Fall 2014 – Summer 2015. This may slightly differ from data submitted to other agencies (including IPEDS), as the reporting dates are defined by the individual agency and report.

Saint Paul School of Theology does not participate in the Federal Pell Grant Program, so recipient data requirements are not applicable to this institution.

This report is published in accordance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act and in support of Title IX and Age Discrimination Act regulations (34 CFR 106; 34 CFR 110).

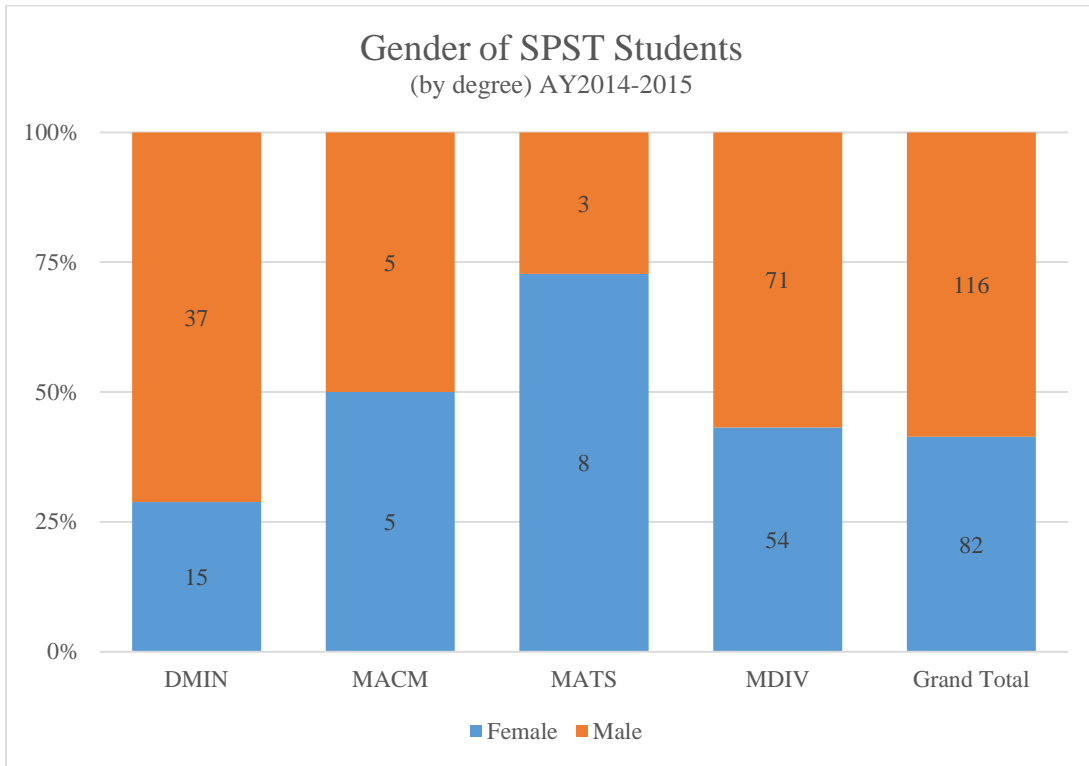

Age of Saint Paul Students

Age	DMIN	MACM	MATS	MDIV	Grand Total	Percentage
22-29	0	0	1	16	17	8.59%
30-39	6	1	0	46	53	26.77%
40-49	16	1	4	38	59	29.80%
50-59	14	6	5	19	44	22.22%
60+	7	2	1	4	14	7.07%
Unknown	9	0	0	2	11	5.56%
Total	52	10	11	125	198

Saint Paul’s student body is comprised primarily of students in their 30s, 40s, and 50s (a total of almost 79%). Students enrolled in a Master of Divinity (MDIV) program are, on average, between 30-49 years old. However, the age range of students enrolled in the Doctor of Ministry (DMIN) program is slightly higher, averaging between 40-59 years old. Master of Arts students (MACM and MATS) also appear to be enrolling in their 40s and 50s.

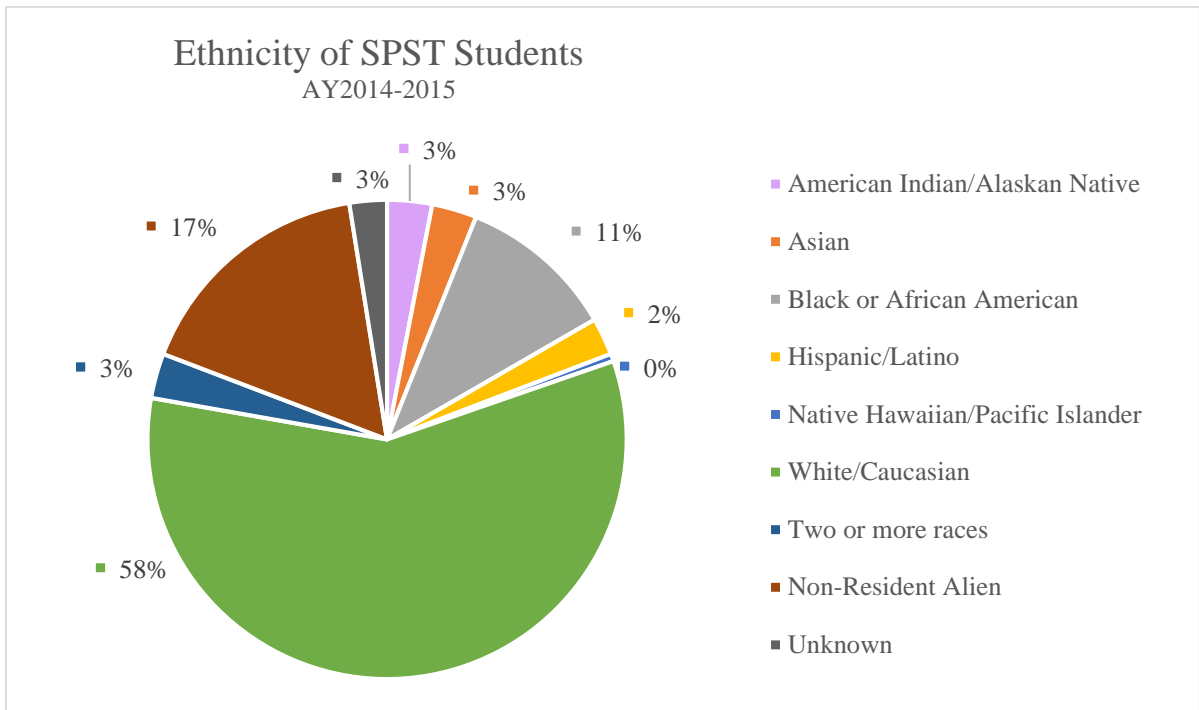

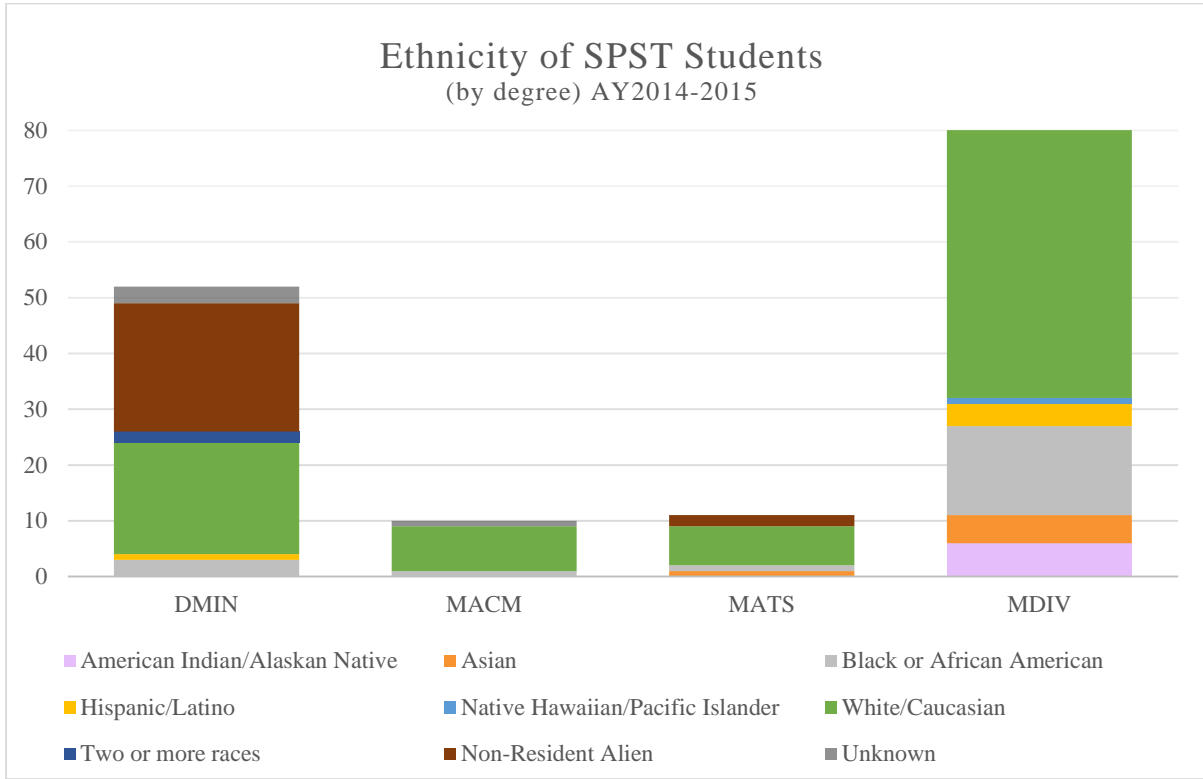

Gender of Saint Paul Students

Gender	DMIN	MACM	MATS	MDIV	Grand Total	Percentage
Female	15	5	8	54	82	41.41%
Male	37	5	3	71	116	58.59%
Total	52	10	11	125	198

While the overall student body at Saint Paul’s is primarily male (58.59%), the distribution of this statistic among the degree programs is interesting. The number of male students pursuing a DMin degree at SPST is more than double that of female students. However, the gender distribution of students enrolled in the Master of Arts in Christian Ministry (MACM) program is equal at 50%, and the Master of Arts (Theological Studies) (MATS) program is female-dominated at 73%. As the program with the largest enrollment at Saint Paul’s, it makes sense that the MDIV reflects a gender diversity closest to the overall student body at 43% female and 57% male.

Ethnicity of Saint Paul Students

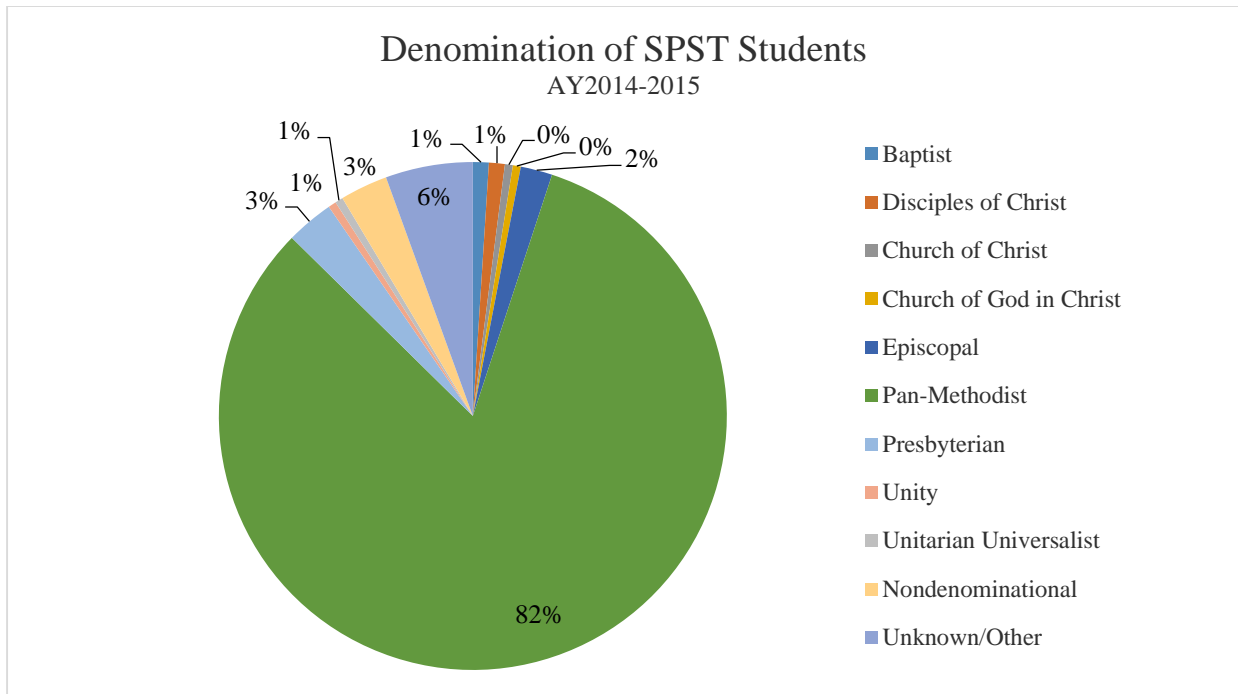

Ethnicity of Saint Paul Students (Cont.)

Ethnicity	DMIN	MACM	MATS	MDIV	Grand Total	Percentage
American Indian/Alaskan Native	0	0	0	6	6	3.03%
Asian	0	0	1	5	6	3.03%
Black or African American	3	1	1	16	21	10.61%

Two or more races	2	0	0	4	6	3.03%
Non-resident alien	23	0	2	8	33	16.67%
Unknown	3	1	0	1	5	2.53%
Total	52	10	11	125	198

Overall enrollment at Saint Paul's continues to reflect a primarily White/Caucasian ethnicity (58%). There are two ethnic groups, however, that represent a significant portion of the student body: Non-resident alien (17%) and Black/African American (11%).

The majority of the non-resident alien population at SPST is comprised of students enrolled in the Korean Track of the DMIN program, which graduated 16 students during this academic year. Since the next track of the Korean DMIN program has not yet begun, this ethnic group at Saint Paul's will likely see a significant drop during the 2015-2016 academic year.

The overwhelming majority of Saint Paul students identified themselves as United Methodist (69%). Since SPST is one of 13 United Methodist seminaries in the U.S., as designated by the General Board for Higher Education and Ministry of the United Methodist Church, this is not surprising. A total of 77% of master's students are United Methodists: 79% of MDIV, 45% of MATS, and 90% of MACM students. However, less than half of DMIN students identified as such (46%).

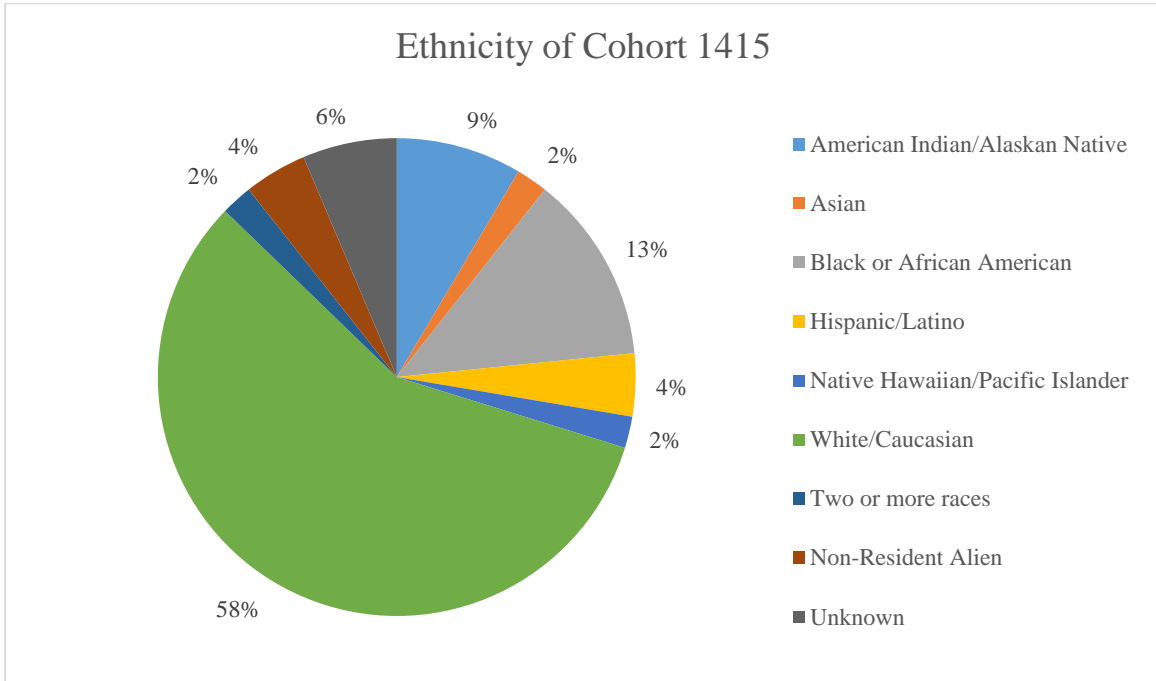

The secondary denomination representing the student body at Saint Paul's is Independent Methodist (10%), populated primarily by our Korean international students. Considering the large class of students enrolled in the Korean DMIN program, this denomination encompasses 35% of our doctoral student body.

Beyond these two denominations, the religious affiliation of SPST students appears to be quite sparse. 6% of students' affiliation is unknown, while 3% identified as Nondenominational, 3% as Presbyterian, and 2% as Episcopalian. The remaining 7% of students' religious affiliations are spread among 9 other denominations.
